DWS Makes Additional Investment into RREEF Property Trust

NEW YORK, NY – March 3, 2026 – DWS, a leading European asset manager with global reach, today announced that it, through an affiliate, has made a $15 million investment into RREEF Property Trust, Inc. (the “Company”, NASDAQ: ZRPTAX; ZRPTIX; ZRPTTX, ZRPTMX, ZRPTUX), a publicly registered, daily net asset value (“NAV”)¹ real estate investment trust that it advises through an affiliate, via the purchase of the Company’s Class Z common stock. The $15 million purchase in shares of Class Z common stock was made at the Company’s NAV per Class Z share as of the close of business on February 25, 2026. The issuance was exempt from registration under Section 4(a)(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

The investment reinforces DWS’s alignment with the Company’s investors. Hepsen Uzcan, CEO of DWS Americas stated, “this investment of approximately 7.5% of the total NAV of the Company, increases our total investment to approximately 12.7% of the total NAV, and affirms the ongoing commitment of DWS to support and grow the Company.” Todd Henderson, Co-Global Head of Real Estate and CEO of the Company, added “at this point in the investment cycle, the fundamentals in real estate support the recovery of real estate values as we continue to focus on our strongest conviction sectors of industrial, residential and necessity-based retail across our real estate platform.”

Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of federal securities laws and regulations. Important risk information

RREEF Property Trust (“RPT”) is a speculative security and, as such, involves a high degree of risk. An investment in RPT involves the same risks associated with an investment in real estate, such as market risk, interest rate risk, risks related to property diversification, tenant turnover and the use of leverage. There is no guarantee that any real estate strategy, including RPT’s, will be successful. There is no public market for RPT’s shares of common stock. RPT’s shares should be considered as having only limited liquidity and at times may be illiquid. RPT’s redemption of shares will likely be the only way for you to dispose of your shares, and RPT’s redemption plan contains limitations on the number of shares RPT will redeem in any calendar month and quarter. RPT’s board of directors may modify or suspend RPT’s redemption plan, as well as its investment policies without stockholder approval, which could alter the nature of your investment. The purchase price and redemption price for RPT’s shares is based on RPT’s NAV, which may not accurately reflect the actual price at which its assets could be liquidated on any given day because valuation of properties is inherently subjective. RPT’s failure to remain qualified as a REIT would have an adverse effect on its operations and its ability to make distributions to its stockholders. Distributions are not guaranteed, are made at the discretion of RPT’s board of directors and may be paid from sources other than cash flow from operations, including, without limitation, the sale of assets, borrowings or offering proceeds, and RPT has no limits on the amounts it may pay from such sources. RPT is dependent upon its advisor to conduct its operations, and RPT’s advisor will face conflicts of interest as a result of, among other things, time constraints, allocation of investment opportunities and the substantial fees RPT will pay to its advisor. The value of RPT’s shares will fluctuate with the portfolio of the underlying real estate properties. Shares sold will be at a price which may be more or less than the original price paid for the shares by the investor. Investors may be subject to adverse tax consequences if RPT does not qualify as a REIT for federal tax purposes. In addition, distributions from current or accumulated earnings and profits are taxed as ordinary income. Data provided by RREEF America, the advisor to RREEF Property Trust.
